Compose an artistic image though double exposure

Double exposure: In photography and cinematography, a multiple exposure is the superimposition of two or more exposures to create a single image, and double exposure has a corresponding meaning in respect of two images.

This lesson is going to allow you to merge two images together that have similar meaning or content. Maybe the two images combined together tell a story.

Assignment:

Visit the link below to read and gain a solid understanding of the compositional strategy of creating a double exposed image. Then create your double exposed image from two photographs that you have taken that have a similar theme, content, story, etc. One of your photographs will be a portrait shot that you will take of yourself using the DSLR and it's self timer.

Lastly, post your three photographs (two originals and one final double exposed image) to your class assignment page on your website. Title the assignment: Double Exposure– Self Portrait
